

Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE)

At Colindale Primary School as part of a wider, broad and balanced curriculum, we offer PSHE lessons which have an impact on both academic and non-academic outcomes for all pupils. Through our PSHE lessons, pupils develop the knowledge, skills and attributes they need to keep themselves healthy and safe and be prepared for life and work.

Our curriculum is designed to fulfil the statutory requirements of the National Curriculum for PSHE, as well as the non-statutory elements for primary schools such as sex education, economic wellbeing, careers and being a responsible citizen. As well as delivering a comprehensive life skills programme, a range of themes are covered to support the personal, social, emotional and health development of all pupils. These are taught through a positive approach, acknowledging that when we are faced with various risks and negative events, we can learn to make informed decisions and responses based on knowledge, attitudes, skills and strategies to recognise and manage these situations as effectively as possible.

Our programme of studies is based on three core themes: Health and Wellbeing, Relationships and Living in the Wider World. There is a high focus on supporting children's mental health and emotional wellbeing as well as greater emphasis on the skills and attributes that are crucial to children's personal development.

Essential skills and attributes developed through our programme of study:

- Personal Effectiveness including self-improvement, resilience, self-regulation, recognising and managing peer influence, self-organisation, strategies for identifying and accessing appropriate help and support, clarifying own values, and developing and maintaining a healthy self-concept.
- Interpersonal and social effectiveness including empathy and compassion, respect for the rights of others to their own beliefs, values and opinions, skills for employability (such as active listening communication) team working, negotiation, leadership and presentation skills, enterprise skills and attributes (such as aspiration, creativity and goal setting) recognising, evaluating and utilising strategies for managing influence, valuing and respecting diversity and using these skills and attributes to build and maintain healthy relationships of all kinds.
- Managing risk and decision-making including identification, assessment and management of positive and negative risk to self and others, formulating questions, analysis, assessing the validity and reliability of information, identify links between values and beliefs, decisions and actions and making decisions.

We want to support our pupils to be more autonomous and less vulnerable, teaching them the knowledge and skills to be able to understand and act in any situation they encounter.
