We have acknowledged the concerns with regards to appropriate homework and are currently reviewing this. We will communicate any updates or changes to you as soon as we have any.

We are pleased to see our work at dealing effectively with bullying has been acknowledged with a reduction in the % believing we could deal with this better although we realise this is something we must stay on top of.

We will continue to strive toward achieving 100% satisfaction and encourage you to let us know what you believe we are getting right, what we could be doing better and what you believe does and doesn't work well for you and your children.
