Dear Parents and Carers

Summer Term - Learning at Home

Monday was the start of the Summer term and with the lockdown set to continue for several more weeks at least, we have been reviewing our provision for home learning. We continue to remain open for children whose parents are Key Workers, but the vast majority of our children are having to stay at home and continue their learning with the support of their parents and carers. So, in order to ensure that we are moving forward with our provision for children, teachers have been planning the next steps.

From Monday there will be weekly plans for every year group uploaded onto the Home Learning Page of the website. I will be writing to you again on Friday, giving you more details.

Many children with the support of their parents and carers have been in touch via their year group email (see below) sharing their home learning, but others have not. From next week teachers will be emailing all those who have not been in touch, to check in with them and ensure they are able to access the lessons we are planning.
